

DO YOU WANT TO BE A WRITER?

Whether you want to write a novel, a collection of short stories, a personal reminiscence, a real-life story, or a mix of these genres, our part-time, two-year, university level programmes will help you get to grips with the craft of storytelling and provide you with the support and structure you'll need to write the stories you've always wanted to write.

The Creative Writing Programme is the leading independent centre for creative writing teaching in the South East of England. For more information about our programmes and courses in Brighton and Eastbourne beginning in October visit our website at www.creativewritingprogramme.org.uk
Or email info@creativewritingprogramme.org.uk

Debut novel 'Wrecker'
by Noel O'Reilly, alumnus of the Creative Writing Programme, published in July by Harper Collins

 The Creative Writing Programme helped me realise my potential as a writer, Jess Richards, author of Snake Ropes and Cooking With Bones